Christmas Socials Take
The Spotlight At UK

NUMBER 21

'Hanging Of The Greens' Will Take Place Thursday Night At 7:00 In Union

Program Includes
Christmas Tree,
Musical Numbers

Students will "deck the halls with boughs of holly" and sing Christmas carols at 7 o'clock Thursday night during the traditional service of the Hanging of the Greens in the Great Hall of the Union building.

Entertainment will include the hanging of the greens, a candle lighting service by YW cabinet members, a Christmas story related by Clarence Geiger, English instructor, and several numbers by a string quartet, and by the University Choristers, under the direction of Mildred Lewis.

A Christmas tree, decorated by the Union committees, will be placed in the Great Hall together with other decorations arranged by members of the YW and YMCA.

The committee on arrangements includes Jane Birk, vice president, YWCA; Ethel Smith and William Deep, social chairman of the YW and YMCA; and the Union committees. Members of Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman women's honorary fraternity, will usher.

All students are invited to attend the ceremonies and take part in the caroling procession to Maxwell place following the service.

Christmas Letters Now In Mail

Christmas letters for former students in the armed forces were distributed last week-end to women students for mailing should be in the mail by now, according to Miss Rebecca Van Meter.

If any students have failed to mail their share, they should return them to the Union information desk immediately.

Kentucky Basketeers Appear Powerful, But Reserve-Shy

Regulars Defeat
Subs, 70-37,
Before 1,500 Fans

Potentially powerful, but weak in reserves — that's the picture surrounding Kentucky's 1942-43 basketball team. After Darnall's five failed to appear for Saturday night's exhibition against the Cats because of slippery roads, Coach Adolph Rupp sent his regulars against the reserves, and the A team walloped the subs, 70-37, before some 1,500 cage-hungry fans.

One thing was wrong with the tilt—it was too much like a practice session, too much like the daily routine. Evident throughout the contest was the power being held in reserve by the A team—if the B boys threatened, they'd use it—otherwise, they were content to just coast along. In the latter stages of the game, however, they abandoned this practice and ran up the landslide margin.

Pleasing from the spectators' viewpoint was the promise shown by Kenneth Rollins, guard, and Muiford Davis, forward, both sophomores. Davis, although he didn't play all the game, chunked in 10 points, and Rollins played a good floor game, showed up well on defense, and contributed eight points. The three veterans — Milt Tieco, Mel Brewer and Marvin Akers — turned in their usually fine performances. Tieco leading the annual SEC basketball tourney in Louisville in February.

Choristers To Give Carols Program At Convocation

The University Choristers, under the direction of Mildred Lewis, will present a program of carols at the last convocation of the quarter, the third hour, Friday.

This special convocation is being held in order that students and faculty may have an opportunity to hear the Choristers in their annual Christmas recital.

The program will be repeated twice on Sunday as the final musicale of the year, at 4 p.m. and again at 8 p.m. Overflow audiences always attend these Sunday concerts so the convocation program is expected to take care of many people unable to attend on Sunday.

Friday's program will include group singing of familiar carols, the largest total sales of annuals in the recent contest.

Lances, Junior Leadership Honorary For Men, Was Once Ancient Mystic 13

New Group
Carries Out
High Ideals

AS CONDENSED FROM THE HERALD-LEADER

Lances, junior men's honorary leadership fraternity, may be a digested and respected organization today but one of its ancestors—the Mystic 13—was a renegade of the first order!

The Mystic 13 was organized at the University in 1900 as a junior honorary and social organization. How the Mystic 13 functioned and how it finally disappeared from the campus on order of school authorities is recalled by Louis Hillemeyer and Bart N. Peak, two of the members whose sons are affiliated with Lances.

Mr. Hillemeyer and Mr. Peak appeared as guest speakers at Lances' annual banquet recently, and told members of the new order how the parent organization was run.

Invitations to membership in the Mystic 13—so-named because the roster was limited to that number—were scrawled in red ink on torn pieces of brown wrapping paper. The invitations always were discovered by candidates in the most mysterious places and at the most unexpected times. The paper might be found dangling from the coat tail, wadded up in the coffee cup or possibly stuffed in a salad. After invitations were extended, the pledges were required to wear black arm-bands bearing a red 13 pierced by a dagger.

When the day for initiation arrived, pledges were instructed to go to some particular spot and await further orders. They were kept waiting for hours, perched on a fireplug, a house top or some equally uncomfortable place. (Mr. Hillemeyer was assigned to a seat on a fireplug at Third and Dewees streets.)

Mystic 13 actives hours later secured a jolt wagon and team from some livery stable and then went the rounds collecting their pledges and beginning the journey to the initiation site.

This trip certainly must have proved a nightmare to the prospective members. They were cuffed about, thrown down, stepped upon and generally made uncomfortable. Among other things, initiation consisted of wearing a strip of adhesive tape around the hand, underneath which was a pad saturated with acid and bearing the 13 stamp so that the number was burned into the flesh.

LIKE FATHER LIKE SON

The initiation site ordinarily was some lonely spot out in the country. One of the favorite sites was Russell cave, located a ten miles from Lexington on the pike which bears that name. Here pledges were blindfolded and forced to do many things which added to their mounting discomfort.

In 1928, rough hazing sent one pledge to the hospital for treatment and led to a University edict that the organization be disbanded in the interest of the students and the University.

On the surface, the Mystic 13 appeared "wild and wooly." However, according to Mr. Peak and Mr. Hillemeyer, the members succeeded in their purpose of assisting and encouraging campus leadership. They insist that the hazing practices merely reflected the tempo of the period and certainly did not reflect any perversity on the part of Mystic members.

That the organization did pay homage to the spirit of leadership is attested by the fact that many of its members today are outstanding civic, educational and business leaders in their respective communities.

A few of these leaders are Major Gerald Griffin, William S. Embry, A. D. Kirwan, W. Emmet Milward, Elmer "Baldy" Gilb, Major Walter Jones, James Park, G. E. Kelly of Lebanon, Guy Huguet, Mr. Hillemyer and Mr. Peak. Incidentally, a third father-son combination is Mr. Kelly and his son, George, who is a member of Lances.

According to William S. Ward, of the University English faculty, who serves as faculty adviser for Lances, the campus unit today has as its basic purpose the encouragement of leadership and a recognition of outstanding abilities. Lances offers two annual scholarships, $50 and $25, to outstanding needy men juniors. Last year, in conjunction with SuKy, campus pep organization, Lances sponsored a spring carnival which netted approximately $300 for the Red Cross. This event will be held annually, according to present plans.

Membership in Lances is limited to 20, and the present list includes 17 junior men.

Last Open Class Scheduled Friday

The last open class of the quarter will be conducted at 10 a.m. Friday in room 124, Biological Sciences building. Professor Morris Scherago will discuss "How Germs Cause Disease" as a part of his regular course in Principles of Bacteriology.

The lecture, which can be understood apart from the other discussions of the class, is open to all students.

XMAS FORMAL MARKS WEEMS' FINAL DANCE

Entire Band
Has Enlisted
In Merchant Navy

Ted Weems and his orchestra will make their last civilian appearance from 9 to 12 Friday night at the Christmas formal in the Bluegrass room of the Union building.

Complete arrangements have been made, it was announced by band manager Bill Black and the Music Corporation of America, for the entire Weems band of fourteen members to don the uniform of the United States Merchant Marine in the middle of December, playing their final job here.

The band will be on duty at the Basic Cadet School in San Mateo, Calif., where Weems will assume the rank of chief petty officer and the band members will become musicians, second class. The men will be given regular duties at the school since the merchant marine does not authorize enlistments for entertainment purposes solely. However, they will be free every night.

The dance Friday night will be formal for girls, optional for men, with admission set at $1.25 in advance, $1.50 at the door.

The Kentuckian queen and six attendants will be presented to the student body during the evening, and a trophy will be given to Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity for having the largest total sales of annuals in the recent contest.

KIPA CONVENTION IS CANCELLED, CARROLL SAYS

Transportation Difficulties Make Meet Impossible

The semi-annual convention of the Kentucky Intercollegiate Press Association which was to have been held at the University, Friday, December 11, has been cancelled, according to James Carroll, president of the association.

"This convention was to have been the last for the duration," said Carroll, "but gasoline rationing and lack of transportation facilities would not permit all the schools to attend."

The KIPA is made up of members from Eastern and Western State Teachers colleges, Murray State Teachers college, Berea college, Transylvania college, Union college, Centre college, and the University.

Twice yearly a different group of judges, selected by the convention, consider the merit of newspapers submitted by each of these colleges.

The papers are judged on ten points: makeup, news stories, features, columns, sports, editorials, news photographs, cartoons, advertisements and best all-around paper.

The purpose of the convention is to announce the winner of the trophy and the winners of individual awards.

Grant Milnor Hyde, director of the school of journalism of the University of Wisconsin, is judging this year's entries and the winner of the trophy and individual winners will be notified by mail.

At the spring convention which was held at Union college, Barboursville, The Kernel took the trophy for the best all-around college newspaper in Kentucky and placed second in advertising and third in makeup. Six first prizes out of nine were awarded to Kernel staff members.

The lecturers this year, chosen by their colleagues as outstanding scholars and teachers in the four general fields of generically related subjects are Prof. John Kuiper, head of the department of philosophy, for literature, philosophy, and the arts; Dr. Amy Vandembosch, professor of political science, for the social studies; Dr. Charles Barkenbus, professor of organic chemistry, for the physical sciences, and Dr. William R. Allen, professor of zoology, for the biological sciences.

These lectures are designed for the university community and for the general public and, although scholarly in nature and based upon rich research, will have a wide general appeal.

The committee in charge, appointed by Dean Paul P. Boyd, is composed of Prof. John Kuiper, head of the department of philosophy, and the arts; Dr. Amy Vandembosch, professor of political science, for the social studies; Dr. Charles Barkenbus, professor of organic chemistry, for the physical sciences, and Dr. William R. Allen, professor of zoology, for the biological sciences.

The second annual arts and sciences college lecture series will be given in March and April, 1943, according to an announcement received from the committee in charge.

Heavyweights Ralph Kohl of SAE and Milt Kafoglis, Independent, furnished one of the top opening night fights, Kohl winning the decision after three punch-packed rounds. The winner will next meet Art Francis in what promises to be a red hot encounter.

In the 121-128 pound class, Sonny Hall of SAE beat Ed Jones of DTD, while P. Young, AGR, gained the decision over Bob Dean, DTD. In the 128-135 class, another SAE, Buddy Parker, was given the decision over AGR's Jim Hancock.

Jim Saunders of SAE got the nod over Phi Tau Joe Amato in the 135-142 class, while Mitch Yowell, AGR, defeated SAE Bob Miller.

Heavy blows were landed in the 145-155 class as Independents Bob Foote mauled K. Jones, AGR, to win on a technical knockout; and W. Duncan, Independent, registered a technical K. against Phi Tau Bob Hardin in the third.

In the 155-165 class, W. T. Stewart defeated Phi Tau Joe Hyams in a third-round technical K.O., and in the 165-175, SAE Marion Smith gained the decision over Sigma Chi Ed Murphy.

The lone heavyweight wrestling bout pitted Independent Bill Chambers against DTD Bill Hockaday. Chambers won in one minute, 22 seconds.

Jim Welch, AGR, pinned Stan Bryan in 3:40 in the 121-128 class opener, and Davis, Sigma Chi, won on a forfeit in the 128-135, while Gerald Schaffer, AGR, pinned Morris Rosen, Independent, in two minutes at, and Phi Delt Jim Floyd in 3:45. AGR Jim Hancock in 3:20.

Gene Barnett, AGR, pinned SAE Ned Breitholt in 2:33 in the 135-142 class, as Don Wilhoit, of SAE, downed Phi Delt Jim Beasley in 3:10, and Delt Jack Reed defeated Tom Moore, SAE, on a time advantage.

Phi Beta alumnae and patrons joined the active chapter in honoring the news members, who are Anne Carter Felts, Marjorie Freeman, Kathleen Hagan, Shirley Kilgore, Virginia Long, Frances Rowland, Anita Steele, and Jacqueline Wiedeburg.

Joan Taylor was in charge of arrangements for the affair.

Boxing And Wrestling Meets Continue Intramural Program

Interesting Tilts . . . Feature All Weight Classes

The intramural department has continued its fall quarter program with the inauguration of boxing and wrestling meets. Boxing got underway last week, ten three-round bouts. A large crowd attended this session as well as the wrestling opener, which featured fourteen matches.

The government will not take over any institution, either public or private, according to Dr. Donovan. It will continue to make contracts with colleges and universities like the one it now holds for the training of service men at the University.

"We expect to have approximately 1,000 or 1,200 women, and between 400 and 500 men who are not able to pass the physical examination of the armed forces," he explained.

"A contract will be made with the government again next year and we will have soldiers on the campus — many more than are now stationed here. But the University will be open to students just as it is now."

What Have You Accomplished?

Now that the quarter will be completed in a few days, can you say that you have accomplished anything worthwhile? Just think awhile about what you have done here at school. Was coming to school worth spending the time and money you have spent? If it wasn't, you need to take some action. At a time when the efforts of everyone are needed so badly, no one should waste his time at school but should make every effort to get the most from his opportunities.

You may have done practically nothing. If so, you have wasted valuable time and money and have nothing to show for it. Not only have you not studied but you haven't anything that you can show for the time expended, except of course, you wasted opportunities. You didn't enter into campus activities or practicality anything pertaining to the University. You might just as well have been somewhere else working or loafing.

Maybe you have worked toward becoming a BMOC or a BWOC, but if you haven't studied meanwhile, where has it gotten you? After you have finished school, your BMOC or BWOC rating will be worthless.

On the other hand, you who have applied yourselves to your quarter's work might well boast that you have gotten your money's worth. You are the one who will realize the benefits of college ten and fifteen years hence.

If you are not satisfied with what you have done, you have ample time to start the way you want, come next quarter. (There's not much that can be done about it in the last week of this one.) If you are wasting your time and the time of the University, and insist on continuing such a course, there is nothing much that can be done about it. But, if you have used your time to good advantage, you are one whom the University is proud to call its student.

The open house of Patterson, Boyd and Jewell halls was very successful. Many thought that it should happen more often, and we agree.

The fraternities and sororities have many social affairs, but the dormitories only on rare occasions. It is true that many of the residents of the halls belong to sororities and fraternities, but this is one of the few mixers for both independents and Greeks. If such get-togethers could be arranged regularly, we believe that they would continue successfully.

The main objection seems to be that these events would be too expensive for war times, the expense being almost wholly the cost of refreshments. Refreshments certainly add to any party, but their lack would not detract enough from an open house to warrant discontinuance merely because of their absence.

Before those with authority abandon these events altogether, we think that they should consider the fact that an open house at the women's halls provides a mixer for the whole campus.

We noticed in a recent copy of The Lexington Herald that the University students are receiving something besides adverse criticism in their contacts with the soldiers stationed at the Phoenix hotel. Publicity of this kind will help enlighten the misinformed people around Lexington who think that the students and soldiers on the campus do not get along together. Previously, we students had been accused of leaving the soldiers out of our activities, but the Herald lists some of the activities with the soldiers and also tells of social events for the soldiers in the near future.

This kind of publicity wins the appreciation of the UK students.—J.H.

IT'S ONE MORE WEEK AND ONE MORE DAY

One week and one day from today, vacation will begin.

Those are the most pleasing words we have heard in a long time. Just think, we will get to go back to the farm for three whole weeks, doing absolutely nothing. That will be the truth, because with gas rationing and our living so far in the country, there won't be any running around this year.

We have a lot of work to do before the holidays, though, and that makes the time seem very short. Those term papers we left for the very last minute, and the last minute is at hand. And the books we just haven't had time to read would begin a good-sized library. Must get to them immediately.

For those people who aren't going back to the farm, but are going to travel overnight, the railway officials have requested that you make your Pullman reservations early. It helps the men gauge the traffic and provide adequate facilities. Cancel Pullman tickets promptly when plans are changed. Take as little luggage as possible. Accept available accommodations, since you cannot always get the ones you prefer, or find space available on the train you usually take.

Excuse me, I'm leaving. That spider on the window is getting a little too close for comfort, and she looks quite a bit like a black widow.

'Nuts' To Those Who've Been Kicking

To the Editor of The Kernel: who was interviewed and I was one of those who said, "I wish I were a boy right now—I'd fight." That statement still goes. And I'm not saying it just because I'm not a boy and I'm not subject to "front nel," "nuts."

I'd like to do a little defending because I'm one of those co-eds line" work. I'm not saying it because I'm feeling a sudden wave of patriotism sweep over me.

It's because the job has got to be done and the sooner it's finished the sooner all the boys can get back home, finish their education, and live like we all like to. I happen to have a few people in this fight that are pretty close to me, and I only wish I could get in it and help them. At this point, I'm feeling mighty helpless. Yes, as Mr. Ammons says, I could go to work in a defense plant. I'm wondering what he thinks about some of the girls in the University who work from 2:30 p.m. till 10:30 p.m. seven days in the week, in a defense plant, carry 17 hours of work, and make darned good grades in their studies. How's that for war effort?

From most of the letters written to the editor in regard to this article, everyone took a quick glance at the headline and drew their own conclusions. The headline doesn't happen to be all there is to the story. Also, it wasn't Miss Pugh's own "narrow-minded" opinion, it was based on a survey, and a complete one!

I don't blame you boys. I wouldn't want to quit school right now either and go out to kill. But the issue is at hand. The sooner we get peace, the better this old world's going to be. And the sooner you can get your education. If the war isn't won, though, what kind of chance are you going to have to get that education?

A Red Letter Day For UK

Out Of This World

By Ed Barnes

You can quote me as saying, however, Eileen Sullivan staged a sensational stretch drive to win his heart. When three is a crowd, he who hesitates is lost. "A little of that may have been Shakespeare's, but to S.A.E. Walter Robbins it doesn't matter . . . he has been running around like a race horse in the Kentucky Derby in a mad effort to keep S.A.E. Ralph Farmer from courting Kappa pledge Frances Walton.

As we round the first turn in the Niesle Wilder Handicap, Bob Hicks is out in front . . . but, look out! . . . yep, here comes Seabiscuit! Don Hayes up on the rail . . . what a prize for the winner!

Every third man whom Bess Gravitt danced with at the Pershing Rifle Ball (plug) was none other than the worthy Captain Lee Porter Witt. . . . My word, Captain, are you trying to maneuver your way to her heart? . . . better watch those deflated areas . . . you know what Major Dohl says . . . you may run into an enemy patrol.

What this we hear about Ben Kessinger's little brother (high school) I'll have you know! being lumber one man in Tri-Delt Janet Edwards' squad? . . . someone said that college boys were lucky to be in the rank.

For some unknown reason, DX Happy Day doesn't want his name mentioned in this column . . . my guess is that he's have quite a difficult time choosing between some girl and the Main Spring . . . the Main Spring can take you out of this world, Happy my boy; but the girl is mighty cute.

Guy McConnell, the big politician from Covington remarked that he could never be a lawyer because he could never pass a bar . . . One of my snoops tells me that Harriet Hord is becoming a very prominent figure on the campus since she became the proud possessor of a big white Buick. When Kappa Dawson Hawkins was asked if she had done anything scandalous, she replied, "No, but I wish I had!"

In answer to the question, "Why didn't a certain blonde cheerleader make the Knoxville trip?" it was overheard that if she were twice as cute as she tries to be, she would only be half as cute as she thinks she is.

My worthy snoop, Spinni Merrin, tells me that since the weather is so cold, the girls on the campus should warm up a little bit . . . there is a shortage of men you know!

SX "Errol Flynn" Hackett is planning to spend more time with his feminine admirers from now on. Since his "Claudia" performance he has been seen with several hundred co-eds, chiefly his "Honey-Bubbles" Mary Schlund. . . . Hackett has been accused of having the smoothest but least effective line on the campus. How about that, Mary?

Speaking of "Claudia," I wonder if Jim Wooldridge knows that he did his best to discourage the cast in one of the greatest and most successful plays that Guignol has presented in many a moon.

I wonder what it is about Kappa Delta Lundy that can make SAE Windy Ellis freeze stiff in his tracks, even though he is in the presence of Sally Buckner. . . . We know that Julie is cute but Sally is nothing to sneeze at, either.

News Bulletins

Betty Masters said that Jewell Hall doesn't need a newspaper as long as she is there. . . . Gloria Stevens says that she wishes those "Brewer Boys" wouldn't take away all of Carol Robbie's curls. FLASH! Roy Hunt, A.G.R. proxy, seems to like ADPi. Bettye McClanahan (Miss McClanahan and I have mutual interests," remarked Mr. Hunt, "chemistry and agriculture").

We thought ODK proxy Bob Hillemeyer, being a race horse fan at heart, was still playing the field;

TIME OUT by Tommy Moore

Here is a plug for a group often considered delicate, especially when the matter of walking on a date comes up. Many times in the past a petite young maiden has been slightly put out at the necessity for using the pedal extremities as a means of locomotion when in the company of a man without automobile.

But since movement of gas driven vehicles is curtailed and almost prohibited as far as social activity is concerned, the fairer sex has shown an amazing ability for taking it all in stride. Not only that, but the typical co-ed has managed to leave the impression that it is no inconvenience worth a second thought. Since it limits his pride worse than his feet, a little summy disposition will aid materially in the next few months, or years. Well, nice going, girls, she who can walk in the rain cheerfully will not be in want of dates.

Once again the kernel creates a discussion with words and everything. News Ed. Betty Pugh hit the jackpot with a feature on UK co-eds and their war opinion. That was 11 days ago and people are still laughing. Here is what shows up as funny: Half the people who want to criticize another winter never to the ridiculous in labeling him or her with the title "juvenile" and one side or the other finally comes out with it.

President Donovan gets the orchids and the lightning for stating his position on future football at UK. It is probably a hit unique to find a college prexy with such a decisively favorable attitude toward big game football, and he will bind many hearty supporters in countless Kentuckians who have suffered merciless ribbing about UK losses in the past.

Chairman George Dudley of the Union dance committee is a man with an eye for business. His committee is overly large and for that reason broken down into several sub-committees with various duties pertaining to the success of the social events of the Union. Incidentally it has been declared that one who has seen the Union has seen the University for it is certainly typical of nearly every phase of student life.

Blackness in the morning is not unusual at an early hour, but it is pretty rough when our dormitories preparing for eight o'clock classes find themselves groping about at seven a.m. Maybe it is just the cloudy day, or maybe it is a blackout practice for daytime air raids.

Looking through the pigeon holes assigned to members of the staff of The Kernel one finds curious objects. One proclaiming to the world that it belongs to Jessica Gay contains a gleaming knife for purposes unknown or unmentionable. Surely there is no ulterior motive underlying this innocent piece of cutlery.

Another labeled "Etc." contains nothing less than three glass test tubes. Without investigation we would say that this is the equipment, or part of same, used in the starting pools and opinion gatherings which feature these pages.

"The Coke's in"

"That's the happy greeting heard today when a new supply of Coke arrives at a cooler. Folks wait for it... wait because the only thing like Coca-Cola is Coca-Cola itself. Customers smile and start moving up to pause and be refreshed."

"There's a cheerful spirit about this way of accepting wartime restrictions. Morale is high."

SECOND BRAVERY AWARD GIVEN DAVID R. BERRY 1938

Two ace fliers of the Navy's fighting air forces, now on duty at the Jacksonville naval air station, were decorated November 26 for distinguished action in battle against Japanese forces in the Pacific war area.

The Navy cross was presented to Lieut. David Render Berry, USNR, Owensboro, and the Distinguished Flying cross to Lieut. Carl Daniel Bauer, Portland, Ore.

This was the second award for Lieutenant Berry. For distinguished service in the Midway battle, he had received the Navy Gold Star. The Navy cross was awarded him for his heroic fighting at Tulagi harbor and in the Coral sea battle.

Berry was a standout member of a bombing squadron which sank or seriously damaged eight enemy vessels in Tulagi harbor and an enemy carrier in the Coral sea.

A pilot in the neutrality patrol to England before the outbreak of hostilities on December 7, the Kentuckian participated in raids on the Marshall and Gilbert Islands, attacks on Salamaua and Lae, as well as the other actions.

With Christmas so near, you'd better rush right down and grab that new formal for the holidays. Save yourself a lot of fruitless looking and go straight to PARITZ'S at 139 W. Main. They have a lovely selection of complete evening attire, and, believe it or not, all alterations are with no extra cost!

If you really want something new and different, be sure to visit GRAVES-COX GIFT SHOP. They have a grand selection of gifts that are practical as well as novel and are just the thing for that soldier, sailor, or marine. Prices range from $1.00 up.

If you're in a fog about what to give that man, then consider your troubles solved and get him a cashmere muffler from Scotland. They come in solid colors, plaids or stripes, and are $6 at ANGELUCCI & RINGO'S. If you don't want to pay that much, they have other scarfs from $2.00.

We're not very ol', an don't kno' how to even go to college, an mos peple think we jest sel littel things cause we don't spel so wel, but it's a funny thing how we have lerned to by College Sized Juniors, an if you don't believe it just try to squirm in sometimes at TOTS & TEENS.

You've been giving them for years but they're in higher favor than ever, and we do mean those smooth lace trimmed slips at WOLF-WILE'S. Take your choice between crepe or satin, waist-line or princess style, tea rose or white. And can you believe it, they're only $1.98 and $2.98?

No sense putting off that permanent any longer. You've gone around looking like a shabby dog much too long as it is, and when you consider the natural looking curls you can get at ARLINE'S BEAUTY PARLOR, you won't delay another minute. P. S. It's on the eighth floor of the First National Bank building—that's the tall one downtown.

A find at PHILLIPS were some alligator pumps with a swirl bow. In black or brown, they'd be grand for either dress or sports. Your new Christmas dress will look better than ever with these trim shoes. The price will suit you, too—only $6.95.

By BETTY BOHANNON

It's getting about that time, as if you didn't know—the time to start thinking about Christmas. You'll be reminded of it all right when you visit the stores. And you better start soon, too, 'cause they're already as crowded as they usually are the last few days. You'll see a lot of things to give the boys going to the army, and attractive gifts for the folks at home. If you can resist the many tempting gifts we saw, you've more resistance than we had.

Of course you've been to the LOOM & NEEDLE, but have you seen their Braemar sweaters with matching Braemar tweeds? Well, we think they are a dream, and know you'd feel like a million dollars in such an outfit. But don't let that scare you—the price is surprisingly low.

If you're really stumped, why not give him a writing portfolio? He's bound to applaud the leatherette case with service embossed cover filled with stationery. And the price is even better — only $1.50 at ANGELUCCI & RINGO'S.

It's becoming generally known that most of the gals on the campus have found the best place to get sweaters and skirts in town is TOTS & TEENS. They have loads of them, and their sizes in both juniors and teens give fit measurements that usually are pretty hard to find.

Based on the reaction from boys overseas, the 100% wool sleeveless sweater is the number one choice of soldiers, sailors, and marines. They're pretty scarce, but ANGELUCCI & RINGO still have some left in Olive Drab and Navy Blue. Prices from $3.95 to $5.95.

If you want a gift he'll really appreciate, get him a Marley casual corduroy jacket. It's the most versatile coat he'll ever own. Colorful and comfortable, it's correct for town or country—even dress-up enough for Sunday afternoons. GRAVES-COX has an assortment of sizes in sand, saddle brown, or lovat green for $12.50.

Have you seen the smooth luggage at the PHOENIX LUGGAGE SHOP? If you haven't yet, you'd better get a move on for the days are a'wanin and you'll be sorry you didn't get him one piece at least. And they have so many other unique gifts that you'll hardly be able to tear yourself away from the place.

Have you seen the slave bracelets in the CAMPUS BOOK STORE?

They're sterling silver, so they won't dare tarnish, and they have the U.K. seal on them. For only $2, they make grand presents and any girl would love to have one.

While you're busy with Christmas shopping, drop in at the STIRRUP CUP for lunch and try the king of burgers, the Banquet-burger. You get fried potatoes and all the trimmings with it for only 30c. Or if you'd rather, get a Foxy Frank. That's a glorified hot dog with cheese and a lot of other stuff for only 20c.

Especially good with Harris Tweeds are those bright wool scarfs spotted at WOLF-WILE'S for only $1.00. At the same counter they have long silk scarfs and those adorable chin-chuckers for cold winter days. You'll find such a collection it'll be hard to make a choice.

How about a true luxury gift for a change? He'd never think to buy them for himself, but every man would love to own some pure silk pajamas or celanese pajamas. Better hurry cause they have only a limited selection at ANGELUCCI & RINGO'S. Prices start at $5.00.

You can never go wrong if you give her a compact. Always welcome, she's sure to love those we saw at EDWIN BOGAERT'S, next to the Kentucky Theater. The price range is very wide and begins at $1.50.
